1.1 About Rally of Tsumagoi 2023

Rally of Tsumagoi is the 17 years 4WD vehicle speed rally competition which will be held in Tsumagoi Village located in north-west Gunma Prefecture where the most highland cabbages are produced in Japan. Rallies can be held in all weather conditions, but a winter rally on snow and ice is a rare event in Japan.

Tsumagoi Village has many closed snowy roads during the winter. A rally event was first held in 2007 as “BICC Snow & Ice Rally 2007” in order to make effective use of these roads and to revitalise the local areas by welcoming many visitors to the village as well as to enhance understanding of motor sports among locals.

In 2008, the name of the event was changed to ‘BICC Rally of Tsumagoi’, and since 2012, ‘JAF East Japan Rally Championship’ has been a part of the event. In 2016, the event was upgraded to one of the few international class rally events in Japan with a new name ‘FIA International Rally of Tsumagoi.’ One of the factors behind the successful continuation of the event over the years is the full partnership with Tsumagoi Village. They have been supporting the even by clearing snow on the SS roads which requires a great deal of work, and what not.

However, the 2020 event was cancelled due to damages to the roads in the village by Typhoon No. 19, which caused extensive damage throughout eastern Japan, and the 2021 and 2022 events were cancelled at the last minute to prevent spread of COVID-19.

Now we are planning to hold Rally of Tsumagoi 2023 as the opening round of 2023 FIA APRC Asia Cup, 2023 Japanese Rally Championship and Japan Super Rally. We will be waiting for your entry.

Rally of Tsumagoi Organising Committee

1.2 Venue: Tsumagoi Village

Tsumagoi Village is located in the north-west of Gunma Prefecture, bordered on the east by the towns of Naganohara and Kusatsu, and on the west, south and north by Nagano Prefecture. The outer periphery of the village, except for the eastern part, is a part of 2,000 meter-high mountains such as Mt. Asama, Mt. Yunomaru, Mt. Azuma (Mt. Shiazan) and Mt. Shirane, forming the Great Dividing Range of Japan.

Agatsuma River flows from west to east through the centre of the village, and most of the communities are scattered along the river. The geology is mostly volcanic ash soil with corrosive soils, making the area suitable for highland vegetables, and in particular, the amount of highland cabbages produced is the largest in the country. The climate is characterised by a large daily temperature difference. The highlands are cool even in summer with the average yearly temperature around 8°C. Low temperature and humidity make the village ideal for summer retreats, and the Asama Plateau area has recently come into the limelight as a major holiday resort.

The name of the village 'Tsumagoi' is originated to an ancient story. During the eastern expedition of the 12th Emperor Keiko's son, Yamatotakeru no Mikoto, his beloved wife Ototachibana-hime threw herself into the sea to calm anger of the god of the sea. On his way back home, he stopped at Usuhizaka (today's Torii Toge) and mourned for his deceased wife saying "Azumahaya (Oh my love, miss you so much)."

Tsumagoi Village is also the birthplace of motor sports in Japan. In 1955, after the chaos of postwar period, the first All Japan Endurance Motorcycle Race (Asama Kogen/Asama Volcano Race) was held as the first big event in Japan, with 19 manufacturers and 81 units participating, on public roads in Tsumagoi Village. In 1957, the second event took place at Asama circuit (Asama Kogen Automobile Test Course). The "Asama" race, which continued until 1959, produced many famous riders and drivers, and our rally event has used the roads used for public road races as liaisons as well as the Asama Circuit, which only partially remains, as the SS.

Based on these histories, the Tsumagoi Village Motorsports Promotion Organisation was established in 2009, with the mayor of Tsumagoi Village as its rep and with the participation of various departments of the village office, tourism-related groups and organisations involved in motor sports in the village. The aims of organisation are; to develop sound motor sports, to enhance safe driving techniques and morals, to tackle environmental issues through various project, and to pursue a new way of motor sports from its birthplace in Japan while contributing to regional revitalisation and improved traffic safety.

5.3 Notes on Service Park

The service park will be located 1200 meter above sea level, in the parking lot of the Royal Blue Golf Club. In February, temperature can drop below -15 °C (5 °F) depending on the weather. Please prepare suitable winter clothes and take measures to prevent service tents and other equipment from being blown away by strong winds. Note: There are no rubbish bins in the service park. Please make sure to take all rubbish home with you.

◆◆◆◆◆ 6. Two-way radio ◆◆◆◆◆

The use of two-way radio is strictly regulated in Japan. If you wish to use a two-way radio communication device, you must submit a radio station specs form to the administrative office by 3 December. Specifications such as the frequency, model number and transmission output of the radio are required. Depending on the specifications of the device, its use in Japan may not be permitted.

◆◆◆◆◆ 7 Fuel / Tyres ◆◆◆◆◆

7.1 Fuel.

Leaded petrol cannot be used for the rally. The test method for lead content in fuel is JIS K2255. ASIA CUP competitors are permitted to use FIA fuel that complies with the FIA International Sporting Code, Appendix J, Article 252.9. In such cases, competitors must make their own arrangements and bring their own fuel to the location designated by the organisers. After scrutineering until finish of the rally, the rally cars must refuel at the service stations marked in the Road Book.

7.2 Tyres

7.2.1 ASIA CUP / JSR competitors

7.2.1.1 Hand cutting and tread pattern modification are permitted. Tyres will not be marked.

7.2.1.2 No limit to the number of tyres can be used.

7.2.1.3 The use of studded tyres is permitted. See Appendix 3 for details.

7.2.2 Japanese Rally Championship and other classes competitors

7.2.2.1 The maximum number of tyres can be used follows the 2023 Japanese Rally Championship Unified Rules.

7.2.2.3 Only 2WD rally cars are allowed to use studded tyres. See Appendix 3 for further details.

◆◆◆◆ 8. Importing Cars and Parts into Japan & Driving in Japan ◆◆◆

8.1 Laws & regulations / Customs clearance

The documents required for customs clearance and key points are as follows:

(1) FIA Carnet de Passages en Douane (CPD)

The FIA CPD is required to drive vehicles such as rally cars, recce cars and service cars registered outside Japan. The Carnet is issued by the ASN of the country in which the vehicle is registered. When clearing Japanese customs with the FIA CPD, a Carnet certificate issued by JAF is required. Contact the organisers to obtain the certificate. Make sure to keep the CPD and the certificate with the vehicle when driving so that they can be shown to the police or other authorities whenever asked to do so. Also, all vehicles on the public roads are obliged to have a compulsory liability insurance (Jibaiseiki), regardless of the country of registration.

Notice: When importing a vehicle from a country not participating in the 1949 Geneva Convention on Road Traffic, scrutineering and registration are required in Japan on arrival of the vehicle even the FIA CPD is available. These processes require time and costs.

*If the vehicle is to be driven by a person other than the Carnet applicant, notification must be made at customs clearance in Japan using the designated application form.

(2) ATA Carnet

The ATA Carnet is required when importing equipment, parts, tyres and promotional items to Japan. All imported goods must be re-exported after the rally. Contraband cannot be imported even for temporary use.

(3) Proforma invoice

Ask the organisers or a shipping company about preparation of a proforma invoice.

When importing dangerous goods such as high-pressure gas cylinders and medical supplies, the above documents are required to obtain a special authorisation. Arrangements shall be made individually.

8.2 Rules & Regulations

Cars participating in the rally must respect all national laws and regulations such as the Road Trucking Vehicle Law and the Road Traffic Law, and must comply with Appendix J of the FIA International Sporting Code or JAF Domestic Competition Vehicle Regulations (for light pods, noise level, etc.).

8.2.1 Classes

8.2.1.1 APRC ASIA RALLY CUP

Eligible vehicles are those comply with Article 4 of the 2023 FIA Regional Rally Competition Regulations V4 (APRC) and the vehicle classes are described in the Article 4 of the 2023 FIA Regional Rally Sporting Regulations V4 (APRC).

8.2.1.2 Japan Super Rally Series

4WD Class: Vehicles comply with Article 4 of the 2023 FIA Regional Rally Regulations or the Japan Super Rally Series.

2WD Class: Vehicles comply with Article 4 of the 2023 FIA Regional Rally Regulations or the Japan Super Rally Series.

8.2.1.3 All Japan Rally Championship

Vehicles comply with Chapter 3 of the 2023 Japanese Rally Championship Regulations.

8.2.1.4 Other classes

In addition to vehicles comply with the 2023 Japanese Rally Championship, RF vehicles are accepted.

8.2.2 Vehicles registered outside Japan

For vehicles not registered in Japan, the following documents (a) (b) are required and they must be kept in the vehicle. (c) is recommended for competition cars.

- (a) Carnet certificate (translation) issued by JAF and provided by the organisers.
This document has the effect of authorising the temporary importation of the vehicle. For rally cars, document fee is included in the entry fee. For other cars, fee will be charged.
- (b) Compulsory liability insurance (Jibaiseiki) policy. For rally cars, insurance fee is included in the entry fee. For cars registered outside Japan, insurance can be bought for around. 6,500 yen.
- (c) Rally insurance is recommended for rally and recce cars. Third-party liability insurance is also included in the insurance. Premium is around 25,000 yen depending on the engine volume.

See the Entry Booklet of the Rally Guide for details of importing vehicles. Please provide vehicle details in the Booklet to buy insurances (b) and (c) above.

8.3 Driving in Japan

For foreign visitors to drive in Japan, they must have a Japanese driver's license or an international driver's license valid for driving on public roads. Only international driver's licenses issued under the 1949 Geneva Convention are valid and this must be clearly stated on the front cover of the licence. For more information, please contact the organisers. For more information, please contact.

Competitors holding licenses issued in Germany, France, Switzerland, Italy, Belgium or Taiwan are required to have JAF translate their licenses. The original license hold the same power as the license issued under the 1949 Geneva Convention only when carried along with a copy of translation

Competitors who hold licenses issued in countries which do not fall under 1949 Geneva Convention or any licenses which do not meet the above conditions are required to switch their driver's license to a Japanese license.

For more information on license switchover, visit the website:

English: <http://www.jaf.or.jp/e/switch.htm>

Japanese: <http://www.jaf.or.jp/inter/translation/index.htm>

8.4 Insurance

Participants whose vehicle is registered in a country outside Japan are required by the Japanese Road Traffic Law to take out compulsory liability insurance (Jibaiseki). Competition vehicles and crews are covered by an insurance provided by the organizer. Details are shown below (1 USD = JPY 142)

Appendix 2.

Appendix 3.

Use of studded tyres

The Rally of Tsumagoi has decided to allow the use of studded tyres for participants in the international-rated category as well as for those competing in domestic-rated categories with two-wheel drive vehicles.

Until 2019, the use of studded tyres is regulated by the JAF Domestic Technical Regulations Part 2, Rally Vehicle Regulations, Chapter 3, Article 6, and 2-wheel drive vehicles must use tyre chains on SS courses with heavy snowfall. 2-wheel drive vehicles had to drive with tyre chains fitted on SS courses with heavy snowfall. However, as there were several instances where the tyre chains broke or fell off while driving in dangerous conditions, an application for special approval for the use of studded tyres in domestic rallies was submitted to the JAF, and this was approved. The use of studded tyres will be as follows, and those planning to participate should use this as a reference for preparation.

(1) Use of studded tyres

Snow tyres that can be driven on Japanese action rallies and stud tyres that conform to the Supplementary Regulations. Stud tyres to be used shall be checked at the time of vehicle inspection for the shape and number of studs and the amount of protrusion. The use of studded tyres may be prohibited by the Clerk of the Course depending on snow conditions on the course. If the amount of stud protrusion exceeds the regulations, the use of the relevant tyre will be prohibited from the next section onwards.

(2) Number of tyres used.

The number of tyres that may be used in this competition is limited to 20. However, studded tyres may be used for up to 8 tyres (inter-rated). The number of tyres used by national-rated competitors shall be in accordance with the regulations of the respective championships (national-rated).

Stud tyres permitted during the rally

The following snow studded tyres are permitted during the rally

The number of studs on the tyre must not exceed 20 per 10.0 cm in any part of the circumference.

Detailed rules on permitted studs

1. studs shall be solid, cylindrical in shape and cut flat.
2. the cross section of the stud shall be cylindrical in any place.
3. studs shall be of a single material.
4. the stud shall have a minimum diameter of 2.5 mm at the end and shall be cylindrical and cut flat.
5. the total length of the stud shall not exceed 20 mm.
6. the weight of the stud must not exceed 4 grammes.
7. the shape dimensions of the stud must not exceed the dimensions indicated in the supplementary drawing.
8. the maximum protrusion shall not exceed 7.0 mm from the block surface.
9. studs shall be mounted from the outside of the tyre.
10. studs penetrating the tread are not permitted.
- 11 At least one stud shall be pulled out and checked for shape and dimensions at the time of vehicle inspection or re-inspection.
